FOR

HIRING CONSULTANT

TO FRAME PROPOSAL FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF SAFETY AUDIT REGIME IN PAKISTAN RAILWAYS

1. Background

Internationally it is an established practice to regulate safety in railways through an independent regulator, which is neither part of railways administration nor controlled by the Railways. To ensure the improvement in safety index (accidents/ million train KMs) of Pakistan Railways, it is essential to adopt standard procedures and principles. Internally, CEO/ Senior General Manager, Pakistan Railways whereas externally FGIR ensure the implementation of safety regulations and standards. The independence of the safety regulator from the railways and its administration ensures the neutrality and thus eliminates the conflict of interest. In Pakistan Railways, Federal Government Inspector of Railways (FGIR) works as safety regulator and it is attached with in the Ministry of Railways for all administrative purposes. FGIR is posted through transfer from within railways and back into Railways. Most importantly, the FGIR in Pakistan Railways does not exercise independence as required principally.

2. Objectives

The services of a consultant are required to formulate a Corporate Safety Plan indicating the safety objectives and strategies and to set bench marks for proposed comprehensive safety regime in Pakistan Railways. To enhance the safety index and strengthen the safety regulation, there is a need to upgrade the existing safety paradigm of Pakistan Railways and introduce and implement an independent, well-integrated and robust “Safety Audit Regime”. The proposed safety audit is also required to identify system failures, implementation of FGIR’s recommendations and generic shortcomings.

3. Scope of Services

The Consultant hired for this assignment will cover following areas in addition to all those parameters considered necessary by the Consultant to achieve the overarching objective of world class safety of the system;

(i) Prepare a comprehensive Safety Regime for Pakistan Railways in line with the directives of the Implementation Committee for Reorganization of the Federal Government taken in its 19th meeting and world’s best practices for providing a system of Safety Audit Regime to bring transformation in the existing safety department of FGIR belonging to 19th century concepts.

- (v) The proposed Safety Regime will cover a number of other Modules including Financial Implications, Compliance Model, Quality Control and Accountability Mechanism. The safety system will be IT based which will introduce an inbuilt cross-refencing to the performance and efficiency of the operational officers and their promotion prospects through PERs quantification with respect to safety & inspections.
- (vi) The Consultant will study the existing system of inspections and safety regime under FGIR, with all its pros & cons, limitations and challenges and carry out a comprehensive research engaging all the stakeholders (internal & external) related to Railways in Pakistan through meetings, conferences and taking their appropriate input and the proposal (deliverable) must be a consensus document, which should be commensurate with the world's best practices implemented in large scale, modern and efficient Railways.
- (vii) New model should cover all aspects including Inspection & Compliance Implementation Processes and Information Technology / Automation interventions to ensure the accountability of the operational and maintenance officers/ officials of Pakistan Railways. It should also strengthen and reorganize the office of the FGIR to perform its role of an empowered and Independent Safety Regulator. The proposal should also include the implementation plan.

(viii) The Consultant will perform a gap analysis of the existing Institutional & Governance structures for regulating the safety, both inside the railways under jurisdiction of the CEO/Senior General Manager and the FGIR office. This section will give comprehensive mechanism of reporting, monitoring and evaluation of the inspections of the FGIR office. It will also include developing the reporting formats for all tiers of the FGIR office.
